COMMODORE ADDS COMPUTER DESK
TO ITS PRODUCT LINE

(Valley Forge, PA - January 7, 1983) Commodore Business Machines, Inc. today announced the addition of a low priced computer desk to its line of Computer products marketed through authorized Commodore dealers.

Designed specifically for computers and their peripherals, the desk has a ventilated compartment for a disk drive, a handy shelf for storing disks and other accessories; as well as special slots to conceal equipment cables. The sturdy, steel-framed desk stands at a comfortable height for typing on a computer keyboard.

The desk top (26" x 48" x 1 1/8" thick), is made of durable easy-care Arborite and is T-molded with rounded corners. The steel legs have adjustable leveling glides.

The suggested retail price for the Commodore Computer desk is $279.00.

Commodore Business Machines, Inc., is a wholly owned subsidiary of Commodore International, Ltd. (NYSE:CBU), a fully-integrated manufacturer of advanced microcomputer systems, consumer electronics products, semiconductors and office equipment. Commodore's Computer Systems Division markets the Commodore MAXTM MachineTM, VIC 20TM, Commodore 64TM, PET^R, CBMTM and SuperPETTM systems and software to major accounts and stores.
